

PEMF Therapy for Horses — Service Description

Help your horse feel and perform better while holistically supporting their overall health and wellness. Pulsed electromagnetic field therapy is scientifically-proven safe and effective to enhance and support better health while providing pain relief and improved wellness. This complementary therapy acts as an anti-inflammatory without any adverse side-effects, such as those often present with NSAIDs and other painkillers, while also reducing time and improving recovery following strenuous exercise or injury. PEMF is more than just pain relief; it improves health from the cellular level. Further benefits include:

Optimized Performance

- Enhance your horse's competitive edge
- Simulate cellular activity, improving blood circulation and oxygenation to vital tissues
- Improve stamina
- Relieve muscle tension and inflammation
- Improves range of motion and agility

Increased Stamina

- Elevate your horse's peak performance
- Increased ATP production, maximizing energy production for optimized endurance

Accelerated Recovery

- Get back to training faster
- Facilitate faster healing from strenuous work, competition, or injury by reducing inflammation and optimizing efficient cellular repair

Pain Management

- Alleviate discomfort
- Support your horse's wellbeing
- Targets pain receptors for effective pain relief
- Releases endorphins
- Supports overall healing and cellular repair - beneficial for chronic pain associated with arthritis as well as potentially life-threatening conditions like laminitis.

Stress Reduction

- Reduce anxiety and depression and resultant potentially dangerous behaviours and stable vices
- Promotes a positive temperament while managing stress levels
- Soothes the nervous system, releasing endorphins, and encouraging relaxation.

Strengthen Gut Health

- Support healthy gastrointestinal function and optimal weight
- Support normal digestive function
- Relieve pain associated with ulcers or colic recovery

Versatile Applications

- Safe and effective for preventative measures, rehabilitative care, and to maintain peak performance
- Supports healthy biological function for all life stages, holistically

Non-Invasive and Drug-Free

- No adverse side-effects
- Consistent use compounds beneficially to better support your horse's health and well-being naturally

Investing in your horse's long-term health is easier than you think. Whole body sessions for horses may range 45-60 minutes with our Magnawave and AOPP certified practitioner. Try PEMF therapy to witness the transformative healing effects, and help your horse feel and perform their best.
